Chapter 103F, HRS Procurement Of Health and Human Services

Restrictive Purchase of Service Awards
Pursuant to Chapter 103F-403, HRS and Chapter 3-144, HAR

Updated November 3, 2003

Background and Purpose

A restrictive purchase is one in which the purchase is restricted to one provider for good cause.

The restrictive purchase of service method of procurement may be used when:

- (1) The head of a purchasing agency makes a written determination that there is a basis for restricting the purchase to a purchase from one provider;
- (2) The chief procurement officer approves the restrictive purchase determination in writing; and
- (3) The term of the proposed contract does not exceed two years, or, upon a written finding of good cause by the chief procurement officer, three years.

An adequate basis for a restrictive purchase of service exists when the head of a purchasing agency determines that circumstances constituting good cause for the purchase exist, including but not limited to any of the following:

- (1) Only one provider can provide the services needed in a particular geographic area within a county;
- (2) Only one provider can provide services with a unique cultural approach designed for a limited target group;
- (3) Only one provider satisfies limitations imposed by the source of funds for the procurement, such as in the case when a particular provider is specified by federal law; or
- (4) Only one provider has responded to a request for proposals issued in compliance with the procedures established in section 3-143-609.

The mere fact that a particular provider is or has been furnishing services to a purchasing agency does not constitute evidence that the provider is the only source for the type of service required and alone does not constitute good cause for a restrictive purchase. The potential loss of funds at the end of a fiscal year is also not an adequate basis for a restrictive purchase nor is a purchasing agency's failure to plan ahead sufficiently in order to issue a request for proposals and conduct a competitive purchase of services.

In the procurement notice you must indicate an estimated date for the start of the contract. It is also necessary to indicate a date for the submittal of protests. Pursuant to §3-144-203(b), HAR the date of the last newspaper publication of the public notice must be at least 10 working days prior to any action to finalize the contract. The deadline for submission of protests must be adjusted accordingly. This is also a reminder that in addition to the posting requirements required by §3-144-203, HAR the procurement notice must also be placed on the Procurement Notices System on the web at: http://www2.hawaii.gov/bidapps/ pursuant to Procurement Circular No. 2003-04.

Waimanalo Health Center
The request for a restrictive purchase of service is denied. In the RFP for these services, Waimanalo was not identified as a geographic area to be served. The RFP indicated that priority would be given to areas that are underserved. However, no reference was made to which areas are underserved or the method for determining underserved areas. The RFP also did not indicate that the entire state was to be served leaving one to surmise that awards would be distributed among those who applied in accordance with the priorities described in the RFP. Although Waimanalo did initially apply, it rescinded its proposal and resulting in no application for the Waimanalo area.
The fact that the request for the restrictive purchase indicated the RFP was sent to another organization and they did not respond with a proposal is not a sufficient indicator that others are not interested in providing the service. A fair procurement process must include full disclosure of the service needs of the purchasing agency including the geographic areas that need to be served. Therefore, if the purchasing agency determines there is a need in the Waimanalo area for this service, an RFP must be issued for the geographic area.
